A New Beginning Within

I walked into the new high school building that Labor Day at Mtn. View High School in 1947. I couldn't believe that the building had finally been finished, but here it was... my new high school.

As I walked out the south door that afternoon, I thought, "Could there ever be a prettier place for a new school?"

I stood in the old gym to sing the alma mater with my son's graduating class in 1979. The alma mater had been written by Coach Bill Hoover during my sophomore year. Tears flowed as I thought of 1979 as my last year of association with Mtn. View High School.

That fall, when I walked back into my alma mater as a teacher, I felt that I had truly come home.

And now, on this Labor Day in 1984, I walk again into a new high school. My whole heart lights up as I see the clean, fresh start awaiting us.

As I leave by the south door, I am surrounded by the magnificence of the mountains on all three sides. Yes, God was here, before we were.

Once more I think, "Could there ever be a prettier place for a new school?"
